Why does my twin sister have 305 more stars than me?

- Because she's been here longer
- I don't know
- She's more active
- Because she's better than you (ONLY PLUTO CAN CHOOSE THIS)

@all: ok the fact that he made a place for me to choose that I'm better then him is really nice because that's one of our inside jokes. But whoever hit that button other than me- that was really mean. I don't care that I'm 8 minutes older than him: he's still my twin brother. And I'm not better than him. We're even.

and no one say "What if Nacho hit it?" I know he didn't because I have been watching him over his shoulder. And right now he is saying, "HEY!"

Stars don't measure your worth, it may take you longer than others to get to a goal but if you keep at it you'll get there eventually. No one is better than anyone else simply because they have more stars.

~~besides, I think she has possibly starred her own posts. if she has, that make a lotta sense as to why your twin has a lot more stars than you. I mean heck, I revived this account in late October with only 1 star and now I've got 580 stars.~~ But like Ish said, your star count doesn't equal your worth

Don't think of this as a goodbye, think of it as a "see you later."

I would say perhaps she's been on here for a longer time, and she's pretty active. I'm sincerely sorry people on this forum hit that button. I truly think they meant it as a joke, and not to be mean or insult you, of the like, et cetera. Please don't leave because of this.

@All As you can probably see already, hitting that button on the poll actually negatively affected Nacho. In the future, please specify it was meant as a joke. For some of us, we might think it's funny, but we never know the actual reaction the other has.

...Sorry if I seem like I'm powermodding. I just feel like it needed to be addressed, and I mean no insult.

@nacho
like ishmael said, stars don't measure your worth. there's a very good chance that the only reason pluto has more stars is because she's been here longer. also, some people don't star very many posts (no matter how much they like the post). nacho, lots of people may still like your posts and just choose not to star them for some reason. and a lot of people star every post they see, no matter how they feel about it. pluto may just have gotten lots of stars from these people.
there are also other reasons you could have less stars than other people. for example, i have been here for two years now and i don't have nearly as many stars as most people. one big reason for this is because the people who usually star your posts are your forum friends. one of my best friends on here, sanetra, has a glitch on her computer that makes it so that she can't star any posts. so one reason i don't have very many stars compared to most people who have been on the forums for the same amount of time as me, is because one of the people who would probably star more of my posts than anyone else, just can't use the star button.
all that goes to show that stars aren't a measure of how much people like you or your posts. pluto may always have more stars than you, nacho, and that's okay. and there may be a day when you have more stars than pluto does. either way, we still love you the same.
hopefully that made sense and could help a little bit. have a nice day!
